

Microaggressions in the Workplace Training | Building a Respectful, Inclusive Culture

Organizations focused on building a respectful, inclusive culture should consider providing microaggression training to educate their employees on how to recognize and respond to microaggressions in ways that can lead to positive change.

EDUCATE | MOTIVATE | INFLUENCE

Traliant's Microaggressions in the Workplace training is a 15-minute course focused on making employees aware of the negative impact that subtle or unintentional comments or actions towards members of marginalized groups can have on others and the workplace. As part of a comprehensive approach to behavior-based Diversity & Inclusion training, this course features a video segment, examples of microaggressive behavior and interactive assessments that promote a more inclusive workplace.

COURSE INFORMATION

This interactive training features the following topics:

- What microaggressions are
- The negative effects microaggressions can have on others
- Why certain remarks are considered microaggressions
- How to respond to microaggressions in a positive and effective manner, whether they are a target, bystander, or microaggressor.

THIS COURSE IS PART OF OUR SUITE OF DIVERSITY & INCLUSION TRAINING, INCLUDING:

- Workplace Diversity, Inclusion & Sensitivity
- Unconscious Bias
- Microaggressions in the Workplace

ENGAGING & EFFECTIVE FORMAT

For More Information Contact